at work

Under the backdrop of Mount Mansfield, Vermont's highest and most majestic peak, is Stoweflake Mountain Resort & Spa, Stowe's renowned AAA Four-Diamond luxury resort. Stoweflake maintains New England's only International Association of Conference Center-certified conference center, with 22,000 square feet of function space. Venues include the 4,464-square-foot Pinnacle Room, which is divisible into three smaller spaces; the 2,580-square-foot Stowe Room; seven executive suites; and a 110-person capacity atrium that can be used for registration or elegant prefunction space. A full conference services staff is dedicated to group needs.

Stoweflake's 200 guest rooms and suites can be found in several distinctive settings throughout the property. The West Wing's newly renovated rooms feature mountain or garden views. Suites and guest rooms with private fireplaces are located in the East Wing, while 56 townhomes feature outdoor decks and kitchenettes. All guest units feature a comfortable sitting area, private bath, television, telephones with dataport (some rooms offer high-speed data), and in-room coffee service. Most rooms include wet bar, refrigerator, fireplace or Jacuzzi, and multi-line phones.

In addition to the resort's perfect location from which to take advantage of Vermont's famous ski slopes, Stoweflake's nationally acclaimed 50,000-square-foot spa has become its signature. More than 120 treatments are offered in 30 luxury treatment rooms, where every detail is organized for comfort and relaxation. Other popular activities include an outdoor heated pool and Jacuzzi, two tennis courts, badminton, snow-shoeing, bicycling, and golf. The resort was recently featured on Good Morning America for its hot-air balloon rides over the area's pristine mountains. Offsite, the city of Stowe offers terrific shopping, world-class museums, and a year-round calendar of dance performances, music concerts, theater, and traveling art exhibits.

The culinary arts are of particular importance to Stoweflake Mountain Resort & Spa, which maintains Stowe's premier AAA Four Diamond-rated restaurant: Winfield's Bistro. Classic and eclectic American cuisine that capitalizes on seasonal ingredients with innovative preparation and exquisite presentation are the hallmarks of this eatery. Winfield's Bistro has also garnered the Wine Spectator Award of Excellence every year since 1996. Adjacent to Winfield's Bistro is Charlie B's Pub & Restaurant, one of Stowe's most popular eateries and the perfect place to enjoy tasty pub fare. In the summer, attendees can enjoy the Poolside Spa Cafe with its selection of delicious spa cuisine.
